

Ask About Medical

We need to know if you want medical benefits. Please read the information below explaining the difference between WorkFirst and medical benefits. Then let us know if you want medical benefits.

1. If I don't get cash benefits, can my family still get medical benefits?

Yes. You can get medical without getting cash benefits. Many families with too much income for cash benefits still get medical benefits.

2. Do medical benefits have time limits like cash benefits?

No. Medical benefits do not have time limits. As long as you are eligible, you can get medical benefits. They do not count toward the 60 month clock.

3. Do I have to work or look for work?

No. You do not have to work or look for work to get medical benefits.

4. What if I have private health insurance?

It doesn't matter. Medical benefits can help you pay for things your private insurance does not cover, like premiums and prescriptions.

5. What if I was sanctioned because of a WorkFirst rule?

It doesn't matter. What happens with WorkFirst does not change your medical benefits.

6. Do you care where I live?

No. We don't care what your living arrangements are. As long as you are eligible and live in Washington, you can get medical benefits.

7. If I get medical benefits, what will happen to my immigration status?

Nothing will happen. Getting medical benefits does not hurt your immigration status.
